

Appendix: Fit Testing Services

Background: Respirator training and fit testing is mandatory for any employee that is required to wear a respirator to conduct their job. If respiratory protective equipment is used, employers are required to provide the appropriate equipment, maintain and store it properly, and ensure that it is properly fitted to the individual worker.

A respirator fit test checks whether a respirator properly fits the face of someone who wears it. Properly fitting respirators are needed to ensure the proper level of protection is provided. Along with ensuring a proper fitting mask, a worker must also be trained in the care and use for the respirator they are using.

Fit testing providers: Please see below for a non-comprehensive list of organizations in Ontario that provide fit test services. Below is the list of vendors that employers who require fit testing for their staff may contact to schedule an appointment for this service. N95 supply to support fit testing can be requested through the critical PPE escalation portal - <https://ehealthontario.on.ca/en/health-care-professionals/digital-health-services>. Please note that the cost of fit testing is a responsibility of the employer.

Train the Trainer: As the provincial stock may continually vary subject to supply and demand, and fit testing may be an ongoing need, it is highly encouraged that long-term care and retirement homes identify individuals to become designated fit-testers and participate in train the trainer education. Public Services Health and Safety Association (PSHSA) is among the available providers of this training. In-person and virtual options are available. Individuals must have access to a fit testing kit both to conduct the training and to fit test others. This option allows ongoing fit testing to be conducted in-house in case availability of respirators shifts to new models.
